 (i) a provision of the Occupational Health & Safety Act or one of its regulations is being contravened;
 (ii) that contravention poses a danger or hazard to a worker; and
 (iii) the danger or hazard is such that any delay in controlling it may seriously endanger a worker.

Supervisor – means a person who has charge of a workplace or authority over a worker or another person. Depending on the workplace relationship, a supervisor may include, for example, the president, vice-presidents, directors, deans, managers or principle investigators. The determination as to whether a person is a supervisor does not depend on that person’s job title. It depends on whether the person is responsible for a location (for example, an office or laboratory) where the work is performed on a paid or unpaid basis or whether the person gives direction to complete the work performed by workers, students, visitors, volunteers or learners.
